CEO's Remark and Testimonial for Pang Yi Hahn

This testimonial is for Pang Yi Hahn, who has been an exemplary intern at Carbon GPT over the past three months. His journey with us as an Environmental Engineer Intern has been nothing short of impressive, and I believe he has a bright future ahead with the right opportunities and support.

Pang has consistently demonstrated an extraordinary passion for sustainability, coupled with a deep curiosity about both the technical and strategic aspects of environmental management. His role demanded a strong understanding of carbon accounting and the broader implications for businesses and society, and Pang not only met these demands but exceeded our expectations. His proactive approach to learning and his unwavering dedication made him an indispensable member of our team.

From the outset, Pang displayed an admirable team spirit. He was pivotal in our research and development projects, particularly in his dual roles as a "domain expert" and "materializer." His expertise in carbon accounting frameworks and his technical prowess in developing interactive web applications using Python have been instrumental in advancing our product offerings. Pang's work on projects like the Bulk Upload AI and Benchmark AI showcases his ability to bridge the gap between market needs and technical solutions, a skill that is vital for the success of any technology-driven organization.

Even in the face of challenges, Pang's commitment never faltered. He approached each task with resilience and an unwavering commitment to excellence, often going beyond what was required to ensure the success of our initiatives. His contributions were particularly significant in client interactions and industry events, where he represented Carbon GPT with professionalism and insight.

Pang's growth throughout his internship has been remarkable, both professionally and personally. He has embraced every learning opportunity, from coding to market research, and has developed a keen understanding of the entrepreneurial landscape in Malaysia. His ability to connect with colleagues and clients alike, combined with his positive attitude, has made him a beloved member of our team.

In conclusion, Pang Yi Hahn is a standout individual with a passion for making a positive impact through sustainability and technology. His time at Carbon GPT has proven that he has the skills, the mindset, and the drive to succeed in any future endeavors he chooses to pursue. We at Carbon GPT are incredibly proud of his achievements and look forward to seeing his continued success.
